

REPORT HIGHLIGHTS

FINANCIAL STATEMENT AUDIT

Subject

Arizona State University issues financial statements annually. The University is responsible for preparing financial statements, maintaining strong internal controls, and demonstrating accountability for its use of public monies. As the auditors, our job is to determine whether the University has met its responsibilities.)

Our Conclusion

The information in the financial statements is reliable. This information is also incorporated in the State's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report.

2002

Year Ended June 30, 2002

Office of the Auditor General Assists Universities in Implementing New Financial Reporting Standards

During fiscal year 2002, the University implemented Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) Statement No. 35, Basic Financial Statements—and Management's Discussion and Analysis—for Public Colleges and Universities. This Statement establishes new external financial reporting standards for public colleges and universities.

The Office of the Auditor General has worked closely with all three state universities to assist them in implementing these new reporting requirements.

At the request of the three university comptroller's, we attended a series of meetings, answered specific questions, and provided general guidance and advice on implementing the new reporting standards. We also reviewed draft financial reports that the universities prepared and provided comments regarding the universities' implementation of the new reporting requirements.

New Standards Change the Focus of Financial Reporting

GASB Statement No. 35 requires universities to present financial statements on a consolidated basis to focus on the university as a whole; previously, financial statements focused on the accountability of individual fund groups. The new standards require three basic financial statements: Statement of Net Assets, Statement of Revenues, Expenses, and Changes in Net Assets, and Statement of Cash Flows.

Statement of Net Assets

The Statement of Net Assets reports all assets and liabilities using the accrual basis of accounting, which is similar to the accounting that most private-sector institutions use. Net assets, the difference between assets and liabilities, are one way to measure the University's financial health. Net assets include three major categories. The first category—invested in capital assets, net of related debt—shows the University's equity in property, plant, and equipment. The next category is restricted net assets. Restricted net assets show the amount of net resources available for certain University expenditures. These net assets must be used for purposes determined by donors and external entities that have placed purpose restrictions on the use of those resources. The third category is unrestricted net assets—the net resources available to the University to fund general operations. The chart to the right illustrates the components of the University's net assets as of June 30, 2002.

Statement of Revenues, Expenses, and Changes in Net Assets

The Statement of Revenues, Expenses, and Changes in Net Assets presents the University's operating results, as well as nonoperating revenues and expenses. Resources generated from the University's primary activities, such as instruction, public service, and research, are considered operating revenues. All other resources are considered nonoperating revenues, even though those resources are used for operating costs. The summary to the right provides a break down of the University's operating and nonoperating revenues for the year ended June 30, 2002.

Operating and Nonoperating Revenues

Privatization of Student Housing and Campus Energy Management

The University has entered into several privatization arrangements with management firms to construct on-campus student housing and main-campus energy management projects. In order to finance these projects, the University assisted the management firms in issuing tax-exempt debt. The debt terms state that the University is not responsible for repayment in the event of a default by the management firm. Therefore, the debt associated with these projects is not recorded in the University's financial statements.

At June 30, 2002, outstanding debt totalled $32.1 million for two privatized arrangements. The University is planning to complete two similar financing arrangements for $50 million in late 2002.

Completed privatized projects and those currently under construction are as follows:

Main Campus

- Facilities to house 330 sorority members.
- New air conditioning chillers.
- Replacement of inefficient lighting fixtures and equipment with new, low-voltage lighting and energy-efficient equipment.

ASU East

- Renovation and conversion of existing base housing to student and faculty/staff housing.
- New air conditioning chillers.

ASU West (currently under construction)

- Student housing complex.
- Community center.
- Swimming pool.
