District-reported 2004 results

Teacher pay

 On average, each teacher and counselor earned an additional $2,650 in salary.

Performance

- The District accomplished its goals, which were based on district, school, and individual performance.
- The student attendance rate was 97 percent, and teachers also met their 97 percent attendance goal.
- Teachers participated in developing a new teacher evaluation instrument.
- 100 percent of parents attended parent/teacher conferences.
- The District published newsletters, established a new Web site, and established a master calendar.
- Schools sponsored family nights and other activities to increase parent involvement and required teachers to send positive communication about students' academic progress to parents. The District indicates that efforts to increase parent involvement are expected to improve student achievement.

Menu

 Monies were used to reduce class sizes and for dropout prevention. According to the District, an additional 5 percent of students stayed in school as a result of dropout prevention efforts.
